

Educator Guide: Should Politicians Have #nofilter on Social Media?

Use our modifiable Student Viewing Guide, which includes:

- Quickwrite prompt
- Video comprehension questions
- CER graphic organizer

This guide is designed to help support your students with these learning objectives:

1. Students will analyze and evaluate evidence related to the impact of politicians using social media to reach voters.
2. Students will write arguments and present research on KQED Learn.
3. Students will describe a social media post of a politician or public official then create their own video or audio reaction to that post, in the same way Student Reporting Lab journalists did in the episode.

KQED's Media Tool Policy: In KQED Education's media literacy work, we take an approach to platforms and tools that focuses on developing media-making competencies that are transferable to an individual's specific technology context. When we recommend software for specific mediamaking activities, our factors for consideration include ease of use, whether the tool is open-source, whether it works across platforms and whether it offers the necessary functionality for the task free of cost. If there are no free tools appropriate for the task, we prioritize the lowest-cost solution able to produce high-quality media.
